Mountain Camp - June 9th - 11th 2011

The long weekend saw 18 Guides & 3 Guide leaders, from Coonabarabran and Tamworth, gathering at the Woolshed in the Warrumbungle National Park for a 3 day 'Mountain Camp'. The girls were aged from 6 to 15. The younger girls were on their first Guide camping experience and they camped in tents inside whilst the older girls camped outdoors in tents. We were lucky to have beautiful weather during the day though the evenings were rather chilly. However that made activities around our Campfire even more fun and everyone had plenty of warm bedding and rugged up well.

The girls aged over 10 and some of the leaders had a brilliant time learning how to abseil with Phil Draper, Roger Rowe and Max from Coolah. A few had abseiled before but for the majority it was their first time so there was some overcoming of fear as they took their first step backwards over the edge. Everyone had a go at a 5 metre drop, then 10 metres and then most girls took on the 15 metre drop and it was only because the sun was setting that we didn't go higher! Thanks so much to the patience,

Flickr offers over 160 million images with a Creative Commons license
